SUPREME COURT DOCTRINE

MANILA (Inquirer) — The Supreme Court has ruled that the government cannot be held liable for damages caused by its employees in the course of their official duties.

The court's decision, which was handed down in a 5-4 vote, is a landmark ruling that will have a significant impact on the way the government handles claims for damages.

The case involved a claim for damages filed by a private citizen against the government. The claimant alleged that a government employee had caused him harm while performing his official duties.

The court ruled that the government cannot be held liable for damages caused by its employees in the course of their official duties. The court said that the government is not a legal entity and therefore cannot be held liable for damages.

The court's decision is based on the principle that the government is not a legal entity and therefore cannot be held liable for damages. The court said that the government is not a legal entity and therefore cannot be held liable for damages.

Riches own stake in ambush

Abstract

the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are obese has increased by 50 percent. In 1990, 15 percent of the population was obese, and by 2000, that number had risen to 23 percent. The increase in obesity is not limited to the United States. In fact, the prevalence of obesity has increased in every country in the world, with the most dramatic increases occurring in developing countries. In 1975, only 1 percent of the world's population was obese, but by 2000, that number had risen to 10 percent. The increase in obesity is a global phenomenon, and it is a major public health concern.

Iloilo's 'farm school without walls'

HO-152 Ben-Arrian Torres, also at post office, Iloilo City.

By: Ben-Arrian Torres

RURAL farmers in Iloilo City are now able to access a wide range of services and facilities through a 'farm school without walls'.

The program, which is a joint venture of the Department of Agriculture (DA) and the Department of Education (DepEd), aims to provide farmers with access to various services and facilities, including health, education, and social services.

The program is implemented through a network of community-based organizations (CBOs) and local government units (LGUs). The CBOs are responsible for providing the services and facilities, while the LGUs provide the infrastructure and support.

The program has been successful in providing farmers with access to various services and facilities, including health, education, and social services. This has helped to improve the quality of life for farmers and their families.

US vows huge response to Iraq slays

A missile strikes a target in the eastern town of Samarra, Iraq, on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — The United States vowed Saturday to mount a "massive" military response to the killing of two American soldiers by Iraqi forces in a town in northern Iraq.

The Pentagon said the two soldiers, a Marine and an Army soldier, were killed in a mortar attack on a U.S. military base in Samarra, Iraq, on Saturday.

The attack came as U.S. forces were preparing for a major offensive to retake Baghdad, the Iraqi capital, from Saddam Hussein's forces.

WBC boots Pacquiao out of Top 10 ratings

By [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — Manny Pacquiao's performance in his recent fight against Ricky Hatton has been a disappointment for many fans, and the World Boxing Council (WBC) has decided to boot him out of its Top 10 ratings. The decision was announced on Monday, April 7, 2008, after Pacquiao's 10th-round stoppage loss to Hatton. The WBC's Top 10 ratings are a key indicator of a boxer's standing in the sport, and being removed from the list is a significant blow to a fighter's reputation and marketability.

IMF, S&P claim of bank 'bailouts' unfounded—BSP

By Richard S. Bana

THE claim by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and Standard & Poor's (S&P) that the Philippine government is bailing out the banking system is unfounded, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) said. The BSP said that the government is not providing any financial support to the banks, and that the banks are operating on their own merits.

Young stars stress importance of education

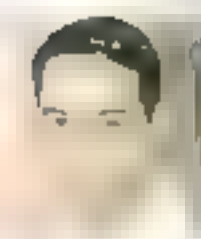

By Louie L. Tan

The young stars of the Philippine entertainment industry are stressing the importance of education, even as they pursue their careers. Some of the most popular actors and actresses are now in college, and they are determined to complete their degrees.

One of the most prominent young stars is Kiefer Sastre. He is currently a student at the University of the Philippines. He has been in the industry for several years, and he has starred in many successful movies. He is now focusing on his education, and he plans to graduate with a degree in Business Administration.

Another young star is Janine Tugue. She is also a student at the University of the Philippines. She has been in the industry for several years, and she has starred in many successful movies. She is now focusing on her education, and she plans to graduate with a degree in Communications.

There are many other young stars who are also students. They are all determined to complete their degrees, and they are using their education to help them in their careers.

Abstract. The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of 10-year-old children. The program consisted of 3 sessions per week, 30 minutes per session, and was designed to improve the children's cardiovascular endurance, muscular strength, and flexibility. The results of the study showed that the children who participated in the program showed significant improvements in all three areas of physical fitness compared to the control group. The findings of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can be an effective way to improve the physical fitness of 10-year-old children.

The same is true for the other two countries. In the United States, the average age of the population is 36 years, and in the United Kingdom, it is 34 years. The average age of the population in the United States is 36 years, and in the United Kingdom, it is 34 years.
